

Dragon Lake

DRAGON LAKE is one of the many exquisite freshwater lakes decorating the Cariboo region. It covers an area of 556 acres, serving as an aqueous haven to a bountiful rainbow trout population. Fishing in the deep waters of the lake is a popular activity for many northern dwellers and attracts people of all ages from across British Columbia. The sport is a prominent activity year round, as Dragon Lake also provides a hospitable environment for fish during the winter months. The lake supports all methods of fishing; however it is renowned for being a fly fisher's dream. Its trophy sized trout place it head and shoulders above many other fishing resorts and areas, and it is definitely worth experiencing its natural and pastoral atmosphere along with its promising fishing success rate.

Roberts Roost RV Park is a popular campground situated on Dragon Lake. Its flourishing gardens and freshly trimmed lawns are easy to appreciate and serve as a wonderful spot to take family pictures. The chirping birds are the music of the morning and create a harmonious and calming feeling to the entire site. The park is a great place for children to play, and the sandy soil beaches are perfect for becoming acquainted with the friendly ducks. If you are interested in bird watching, Dragon Lake provides a healthy habitat for many varieties of birds and ducks. There are also many modest and lovable Bed and Breakfasts embroidering the lake's border that are definitely worth checking out. The mountainous terrain surrounding the lake accents the breath-taking sunsets and starry skies of the northern outdoors.

“Come and enjoy the stillness and peace of blue skies and puffy clouds and appreciate the wonders of your own backyard.”

The well-known Dragon Lake is also extremely liked for its central location and easy boat access. It is a common place for water sports and many find that its often smooth surface nature is perfect for wakeboarding, water skiing, and tubing. Though it is most often used by boaters, it is also a popular lake for training and vigorous sports such as kayaking and canoeing. Many find it is relaxing enough for leisure activities including paddle boating, swimming, and hanging out with friends. Its welcoming aura brings families and friends together and is an ideal location for a little rest and relaxation. Whether you are looking for an adventure, an adrenaline rush, or some peace and quiet, Dragon Lake is definitely a diamond in the rough that should be high on anyone's summer priority list.

If you are ever in the Quesnel area and are looking for a place to practice your wakeboarding moves or go for a brisk morning kayak expedition, Dragon Lake is the lake to go to. If you are simply in the mood to swim and tan in the beautiful summer weather, or if you want to catch some fish and go boating with your friends, this lake is the perfect place to be. If you are craving an ice cream cone and a quiet day on the water, come and visit the sparkling waters of South Quesnel.

IN THE MIDDLE OF ALL THE STRESS AND HUSTLE OF EVERY DAY LIFE, DRAGON LAKE IS THE PERFECT PLACE TO ESCAPE TO AND CLEAR YOUR HEAD. COME AND ENJOY THE STILLNESS AND PEACE OF BLUE SKIES AND PUFFY CLOUDS AND APPRECIATE THE WONDERS OF YOUR OWN BACKYARD. ■
